Foreword

I am glad to know that Krishnadas Shama Goa State Central Library (KSGSCL) is organizing National Seminar 'GOA-LIS 2018' on the theme 'Reshaping Libraries with Emerging Global Technology and Trends' on 9th August 2018 at multipurpose hall of Sanskruti Bhavan, Patto, Panaji – Goa.

Libraries in the modern era are blessed with the technological developments which can be used to improve their functioning. KSGSCL library has taken many initiatives to serve its widespread users with the help of modern technology. A step further this seminar, I assume will give an opportunity to library professionals to come together and share their experiences and ideas through research papers and presentations.

The topic of the seminar is very relevant to present scenario where internet, social media and smart phones have become indispensable in our daily lives. Librarians can attract their readers by enhancing their skills in using these new forms of communication to reach their readers.

This Seminar will provide a platform for healthy discussions and debates among the librarians to include new ideas to reshape libraries with global technology.

I am sure that library professionals will cope up with these technological challenges and mark ahead to record their share in the development of the society.

I wish the seminar a great success.

Preface

We are proud to present the 2nd ‘GOA-LIS 2018’ National Convention Proceeding on 9th August 2018 with full encouraging support of Directorate of Art and Culture, Panaji Goa. It is our pleasure to organise this convention is an effort to take an account of emerging global technologies and its application in the library functioning.

The developments in the ICT have resulted in globalization of information resources with new forms facilitating compact storage and speedy transmission anywhere anytime. The use of technology has influenced whole library set up with regards to its collection, management of resources, services and activities.

The theme ‘Reshaping Libraries with Emerging Global Technology’ speaks about the contribution of technology in revamping whole library system. The Editorial team is happy to see the enthusiastic response of the contributors especially from the local professionals. This promising scenario has shown that this seminar has offered a platform for new generation librarians to explore their talent in improving library functionality. However team has taken an account of all papers received and after review & discussions selected papers were recommended for inclusion in the volume to achieve the quality target.

The editors sincerely appreciate the efforts put on by Prashant Phadte, Neha Thanekar, Vijay Pawaskar in completing the seminar volume in time.

The editor expresses their gratitude to M/s. Computer Graphics Panaji – Goa for printing this volume in a short span of time.

We also thank the Organising Committee members for their whole hearted support. Our thanks are due, for all the contributors for submitting the research articles.

Further this convention will go a long way in creating awareness among the library professionals about emerging technologies and its application in achieving goals and objectives of every library.
